

MEETING AN UNRECOGNIZED NEED

During our CNA, Emily's pregnancy, Esther gave Emily five little green teddy bears for Emily's soon to be born daughter. Esther was having to part with some of her belongings due to selling her home. She wanted Emily's daughter to have the bears because she knew they would take care of and treasure something that was once very important to her. Since Esther could no longer have the bears, Emily wanted to give her something that she could look back on and remember her bears. Emily took pictures of her daughter holding the bears so Esther could see they were still being loved. Esther was beyond happy.
